NATIONAL;

Government to pay Shs56b for fake land titles; it is alleged that at least 600 land titles were fraudulently issued to various companies and individual proprietors leading to encroachment on natural reserves. Read More

COURT;

ICC's Fatou Bensouda, Sudan envoy clash over Bashir's arrest warrant; the barbed exchange came during Ms Bensouda's presentation to the UN Security Council in which she lamented the failure to arrest Sudan President Omar al-Bashir on charges of genocide and crimes against humanity after warrant had been issued more than nine years ago. Read More

SECURITY;

Museveni unveils measures to curb crime wave, criticises police; a flurry of unsolved murders and kidnappings for ransom has eroded Ugandans' trust in law enforcement bodies. The failure of police to issue an annual crime report since 2013 has fuelled suspicions they are trying to conceal the scale of the problem. Read More

BUSINESS;

Nakumatt boss faces probe in Shs670b theft; Mr Nakumatt, the Nakumatt appointed administrator, early this week told Kenyan MPs he is seeking funds to hire a forensic expert to investigate how Mr Shah wrote off stocks worth billions of shillings before the company took a nosedive. SPORTS;

Three things we learned today at the World Cup; Argentina are facing a humiliating first round exit after a 3-0 mauling by Croatia which leaves Lionel Messi's dream of finally lifting a major title in jeopardy. Read More

And finally; Kayihura has case to answer, says Odongo; he declined to give details about the charges but indicated that there is reasonable evidence to support the alleged crimes against the former police chief who was arrested by the army at his country home in Kashagama, Lyantonde District, on June 13 on unspecified charges.
